

Proservartner introduces its Strategic Alliance Network to build strong partnerships to deliver service excellence to clients

London July 29, 2010 - The newly launched Proservartner Strategic Alliance Network (SAN) is designed to build strong and meaningful alliances with like minded partners that possess complimentary skills. These alliances aim to deliver service excellence to clients and mutual benefit for each party to achieve superior growth.

The SAN program will bring together organisations in the business advisory, accounting, legal, & professional institutes to help Proservartner achieve its corporate and social objectives. The program will establish a network of strategic partnerships in order to bring specialist organisation's to solve strategic client issues to drive superior growth. It also serves as a means to generate revenue to fund existing and additional projects to achieve social objective to improve education and poverty in our communities.

“By launching this new program, Proservartner reaffirms its core values of providing excellence in service to all its customers,” says Rakesh Sangani, Partner, Proservartner. “The relationship that we build with our partners is critical, as it allows us to combine the experience, talents, insights and deep knowledge of business management of both partners to increase global delivery, enhanced customer experience and increased client base.”

Proservartner is a social enterprise management consultancy that partners with organisations to provide independent advice, discovery, guidance and implementation support. Our focus is in providing Research, Advisory and Delivery consultancy in Outsourcing, Offshoring, Shared Services and Transformation of Corporate Services sectors.

Press Information

Nishul Shah

Phone: +44 (0)20 7993 6065

Email: nishul.shah@proservartner.co.uk

Website: www.Proservartner.co.uk